When you choose VERVE, you're choosing the best...

Our team is passionate about delivering the highest levels of person-centered care and service. So we were pleased when Excellence Canada, the national authority on quality, gave us a Gold Standard after evaluating our Quality Improvement Program, which we launched in 1993.

When we subsequently received Excellence Canada's highest honour, the Order of Excellence, not once but three times, we knew we really were doing something extraordinary. In fact, we are the only retirement residence company to have received these awards.

What makes our VERVE Quality Improvement Program worthy of such high honours? Our company mantra sums it up best: Do It better. We recognized early on the importance of making care and service better each and every day for our residents. Through the program, we identify areas where we do well and where we need to do it better. Then we come up with solutions to improve our performance. It's a simple and sincere approach, and it works.
