

Join us for an afternoon presentation by Julie Carl

Monday June 1st at 2pm

When journalist Julie Carl entered a newsroom 35 years ago, few women were in positions of authority. She fought in the trenches for women's voices to be heard in perhaps the most important vehicle that shapes society: presentation of the news. Julie has seen a revolution in women's roles in journalism as she served as city editor at the London Free Press, deputy editor of the Winnipeg Free Press and senior editor at the Toronto Star.
